Ulrich Medical: 110 years of medical technology "Made in Ulm"

On the occasion of the company's 110th anniversary, Ulrich Medical is clearly committed to the Ulm site: an additional production plant directly on the neighboring property will soon go into operation and provide further production capacity.

The family-run company successfully develops, produces and distributes contrast media injectors and spinal systems. Production takes place at the Ulm site and thus in Germany. This has become a rarity in medical technology. "The establishment of further production capacities reflects our sustainable growth course. Our recipe for success is to manage the company strategically and with foresight, and to continually adapt and develop to new market conditions," says Klaus Kiesel, Chief Executive Officer at Ulrich Medical.

High-quality medical technology for 110 years

The products are developed in close cooperation with medical consultants and medical experts. "We place great emphasis on integrating the expertise of physicians into the product development process," explains Christoph Ulrich, Managing Partner. According to the great-grandson of the company's founder, another important reason for the company's sustained success is its employees: "They provide not only valuable know-how, but also a great deal of commitment and enthusiasm to their work. We are all driven by the fact that we really want to and can make a contribution - to flawless medical care for patients."
